

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Josceline Percy, the eleventh and last Earl of the male line of the Percys, married Elizabeth, daughter and co-heiress of Thomas Wriothesley, Earl of Southampton, by whom he left a daughter; Elizabeth Percy, sole heiress to the baronial honours and estates of her house; and who was married to Charles Seymour, Duke of Somerset, by whom she had seven sons and six daughters (only one of which daughters left issue, viz. Catharine Seymour, wife of Sir William Wyndham, Bart. whose eldest son, Charles, Earl of Egremont, had the possessions of the ancient Earls of Northumberland in Suffex, Yorkshire, and Cumberland). Her Grace died in 1722; on which her eldest surviving son, Algernon Seymour, (afterwards Duke of Somerset in 1748) took his seat in Parliament as, Baron Percy, &c. in 1722. He married Frances, daughter and co-heiress of Henry Thynne, only son of Thomas, first Viscount Weymouth, by whom he had issue only one daughter, and one son, George, Viscount Beauchamp, who dying unmarried in 1744, all the baronial honours of her father, together with the estates of the ancient Earls Percy in Middlesex and Northumberland, descended to his only daughter and heiress, Elizabeth, late Duchess of Northumberland, mother of the present Duke. Having given his Grace's maternal descent, we shall give that of his paternal, as follows: Langdale Smithson (second son of Sir Hugh Smithson, of Yorkshire, the third Baronet of the family, by a daughter of Marmaduke, second Lord Langdale) married Philadelphia, daughter of William Revely, of Newby-Wisk, in Yorkshire, and dying in his father's life-time, left a daughter, Dorothy, who died unmarried; and Hugh, the late Duke, who died June 6, 1786, aged 74, and was succeeded by his son, Hugh, in the earldom and dukedom; and in the barony of Lovaine by his son Algernon. Elizabeth,

Elizabeth, daughter and sole heiress of Joceline Percy, the eleventh and last Earl of Northumberland, who died in 1670. Sir Hugh, now become Earl of Northumberland, by act of parliament passed in 1750, took upon him the name and arms of Percy; and was afterwards advanced to the dignities of Earl Percy, and Duke of Northumberland, by patent, on Oct. 18, 1766. The eldest, Sir John Elliot, succeeded his father in title and estate, and left both to his son, the present Sir Francis Elliott, Bart. of Stobbs, who is now living, and consequently was nephew to his late Lordship, who was the youngest son of Sir Gilbert, and the only late surviving one. He, at an early time of life, was sent to the University of Leyden; where he made very considerable progress in classical learning, and spoke with fluency and elegance the German and French languages: Being designed for a military life, he was sent from thence to the celebrated Ecole Royal du genie Militaire, at La Fere, in Picardy, where he laid the foundation of what he so conspicuously exhibited in the noble defence of Gibraltar. In 1735, he became a Volunteer in the 23d regiment of Foot, or Royal Welsh Fusiliers; and soon after was admitted into the Engineer Corps, at Woolwich; from whence he purchased the Adjutancy of the 2d troop of Horse Grenadiers, in which he became a Captain and Major, as well as Lieutenant Colonel, when he resigned his commission as an Engineer. In 1759, he quitted the Horse Guards, and was selected to raise, form, and discipline the first regiment of Light Horse, which bore his name. Having gone through various departments in different services, with the greatest marks of bravery and military knowledge, in 1775 he was appointed Commander in Chief in Ireland, which he soon relinquished, and was appointed to the command of Gibraltar, in a fortunate hour for the safety of that important fortress, where he, by a cool and temperate demeanour, maintained his station for three years of constant investment, in which all the powers of Spain were employed, and where he never spent his ammunition in useless parade, but seized on the proper moment, with the keenest perspicuity, to make his attack with success, which ever crowned his endeavours. All the eyes of Europe were on his garrison; and his conduct has justly exalted him to the most elevated rank in the military tary annals of the day. On his return to England, the gratitude of the British senate was as forward as the public voice in giving him that distinguished mark his merit deserved, to which his Majesty was pleased to add that of the Peerage, on June 14, 1787, permitting his Lordship to take also the arms of the fortress he had so bravely defended, to perpetuate to futurity his noble conduct, which, with what was given by William the Conqueror, are now his Lordship's armorial insignia. born in 1773, has issue: Thomas, born Jan. 23, 1790; and Katharine, born Dec. 23, 1793.

His Lordship, on attaining age in 1773, was elected representative in parliament for the borough of Clithero, on the acceptance of the Chiltern Hundreds by his uncle, Nathaniel Lister, Esq. for which place his Lordship was re-elected and served in the three succeeding parliaments.

On the sudden and alarming communication from the King to the House of Commons, at the end of the session, June 17, 1779, "That the Court of Spain had, without the smallest pretence, recalled their ambassador, the Marquis D'Almodovar, and by a public manifesto avowed the junction of their immense armaments with France and America against the unsupported and exhausting strength of Great Britain," his Lordship (although in general disapproving the conduct of his Majesty's ministers in that war) immediately offered to raise and mount a corps of Light Dragoons, at his own expence; and which, in eleven days from the date of his commission, as Major-Commandant, was returned complete. In the autumn of 1793 also, the memorable period of general commotion and alarm, from the wide-spreading doctrine of universal equality, his Lordship repeated the tender of his services to his Majesty, by offering to raise and mount again a larger number of Light Dragoons than his former establishment, at his own private expence, with the additional proposal of serving wherever his Majesty might require.

For reasons best known to his Majesty's ministers, government preferred the assistance of his services in the establishment of the gentlemen and yeomanry cavalry for the West Riding of Yorkshire, which his Lordship zealously and successfully engaged in, and accepted a commission as Lieutenant Colonel of the northern regiment; having served the office of high sheriff for that county the preceding year.

The possessions of this noble family upon the borders of the river, which gives origin to the title, are, by descent, of extraordinary antiquity, the present possessor being the seventeenth in a direct male line from A. D. 1312, (6 Edw. II.); and by an heiress of the house of Bolton, to whom John, son of Sir Thomas Lister, of Derby, Knt. was married at that period, through the illustrious families, it is believed, of Clare, Gant, and Roumare, from the old Saxon Earls of Mercia; William de Roumare, one of the great Norman Barons, having, after the conquest, married Lucia, sister and heiress of Edwin, the last Earl, and thereby possessing, as is quoted by Sir William Dugdale, "Cravennam, et Couplandiam, et Allerdale, et Cokeram, jure hereditario." Mon. t. i, p. 798.

Of the house of Lister, the limits of our work only enable us to go back to Thomas, grandfather of the present Peer, who was born October 8, 1688; and on the death of his father, Thomas, in 1706, during his minority, succeeded to the family estates. In 1710 he was elected member of parliament for Clithero, for which place he sat afterwards in the several successive parliaments of 1713, 1715, 1722, 1727, 1734, and 1741, till his death, on May 22, 1745. In 1716 he married: Katherine, daughter and coheirs of Sir Ralph Assheton, of Whalley, Bart. by which lady, who died in 1728, he had two sons; and three daughters, Katherine, Mary, and Anne; which daughters all dying unmarried, their fortunes went to their younger brother, Nathaniel, born June 8, 1725, who purchasing Armitage Park, in Staffordshire, he settled there, and married Martha, daughter and coheirs of John Fletcher, of Lichfield, Esq. by whom he has left two sons and four daughters: John, son and heir, lately an officer in the 1st regiment of Dragoon Guards.—Thomas, now at Emanuel College, Cambridge.—Mary, married to Oldershaw Clerk.—Katharine, who married Nugent Dunbar, Esq. related to the present Marchioness of Buckingham.—Martha.—Charlotte. Upon the death of his elder brother, in 1761, this Nathaniel was elected Member for Clitheroe, and continued to represent it in that and the succeeding parliament of 1768 till 1773, and died Dec. 28, 1793.

The above Thomas was succeeded in his estates by his son and heir, Thomas, born Jan. 19, 1723; and on his father's death, in 1745, elected also his successor in the representation of the borough of Clitheroe, for which place he was again chosen at the general elections in 1747, 1754, and 1761. He married Beatrix, daughter of Jessop Hulton, Esq. of Hulton Park, in the county of Lancaster; and by her, who died on Dec. 5, 1774, had Thomas, the present Lord Ribblesdale; and two daughters, the youngest of whom, Katharine, born in August, 1754, died in Sept. 1762; and Beatrix, born Nov. 25, 1749, married the late John Parker, Esq. of Brownholme, and has issue six sons, Thomas, Edward, John, Charles, Henry, and William.
